

Eastern Shore Republican Women
Red Wave Article (April, May, June)

Eastern Shore Republican Women did not meet during April or May due to the Coronavirus. We have missed our members and are excited to get back to action and get our members up to date of the latest political news!

As part of our ongoing Caring for America project, in April we contributed $1,000 to Thomas Hospital. These funds were dedicated to providing food and beverages for employees engaged in their duties during Alabama's COVID-19 State of Emergency.

We are excited to announce that two of our members have been named as Alternate Delegates to the Republican National Convention to be held in August. Jerry Ann McCarron, ESRW President and Judy Motlow, ESRW Treasurer are thrilled to be representing District One with this historic honor.

We are also pleased to announce that our own Carol S. Wilson has been appointed by NFRW President Ann Schockett to the Legislative and Research Standing Committee which is responsible for keeping NFRW members informed of legislative news and events on local, state and national level. Carol is the ESRW Recording Secretary and as such currently represents ESRW in this same capacity and does an outstanding job on keeping us all up to date on legislative news!

Our June speaker was State Representative Matt Simpson who is a candidate for Alabama House of Representatives. Matt Simpson has spent his career as an advocate for the people of Baldwin and Mobile Counties. Matt is the current child victim's prosecutor for Baldwin County handling all cases where children are the victims of sexual and/or physical abuse. Matt is a career prosecutor having worked with both the Baldwin County District Attorney's Office and the Mobile County District Attorney's Office.

As we resume our meetings, we will continue to work on our new Membership Directory and Talent Search to get our members more involved at local, state and national levels. We are reaching out to members who have not been involved this year and are actively seeking new members.

The Eastern Shore Republican meet the second Thursday of each month from noon to 1:30 pm in Fairhope, Alabama at The Yacht Club. You can also follow us on Facebook under Eastern Shore Republican Women to find the latest updates in our area.
